

LETTER FROM THE EDITOR

With this issue, we are adding a number of other organizational behavior/organizational theory scholars to our editorial board. This time, they are a mix of well-known and highly regarded senior scholars and a number of younger, up-and-coming scholars in the field.

They are:

Bianca Beersma, University of Amsterdam, The Netherlands
Nils Brunsson, Stockholm School of Economics, Sweden
Daniel Carpenter, Harvard University, USA
Barbara Czarniawska, University of Gothenburg, Sweden
Jane Dutton, University of Michigan, USA
Ewan Ferlie, Royal Holloway - University of London, United Kingdom
Jane Fountain, University of Massachusetts – Amherst, USA
Deborah Gibbons, U.S. Naval Postgraduate School, USA
Ann Huffman, Texas A&M University, USA
Matthew Kraatz, University of Illinois, USA
Gary Latham, University of Toronto, Canada
Gary Miller, Washington University, USA
Peter Miller, London School of Economics, United Kingdom
Jone Pearce, University of California – Irvine, USA

We welcome each one of them!

Also, we will be announcing shortly the establishment of a best article prize for papers in the Journal, supported by Accenture, the international technology and management consulting firm. This prize will be awarded annually, and it will be associated with a cash award of US $5000. It will begin with papers published in 2006 issues of the Journal. We welcome submissions that will be able to compete for this award.

The winner will be chosen by a very distinguished selection committee. This will consist of James March (Stanford University), Martha Feldman (University of California at Irvine), and Nils Brunsson (Stockholm School of Economics).
